University Gallery: Artists' Talk and Reception for "Nowcasting" Friday

The University Art Gallery presents the installation "Nowcasting," created by the collaborative group TEH, on view through Nov. 22. An artists' talk and reception will be held tomorrow, Oct. 23, at 4:30 p.m. in Convocation Hall, immediately adjacent to the gallery. TEH is based in Chattanooga and includes Phillip Andrew Lewis, Adam Trowbridge and Jessica Westbrook.

Visitors to "Nowcasting" experience a digitized storm within the gallery. Like TEH's other works, this installation is intended to "challenge the senses through the use of simulation and present weather/environment through mediated, virtual and physical processes." Inside a space transformed by sound, visitors will question the reality of what they are seeing.

The University Art Gallery is located on Georgia Avenue and is free, accessible and open to the public.

Hours are 10 a.m.-5 p.m., Tuesday through Friday, and 12-4 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday. For more information call 598-1223 or visit <www.sewanee.edu/gallery>.

Lehman Named Sewanee Summer Music Festival Director

University Provost Linda Lanke-wicz has announced the appointment of Katherine Lehman, instructor of violin in the music department, as managing director of the Sewanee Summer Music Festival (SSMF).

Lehman brings 10 years' experience with the festival to the position. She has taught on the SSMF faculty since 1999 and served as director of admissions under Artistic Director Steven Shrader from 2000 through 2003. Lehman has been a member of the music department since 1995 and is concertmaster of the University Orchestra. Since 2005 she has served as chair of the Sewanee Performing Arts Series.

"We are delighted that Katie Lehman has accepted this position and are confident that under her leadership the music festival will continue to thrive as one of the nation's pre-eminent teaching and performing centers," said Lanke-wicz. "After talking with many friends of the festival, it is clear that its faculty and staff, as well as members of our community, care deeply about it and want to help sustain it."

Lehman has appointed some of the longest serving SSMF faculty—Dave Brockett, Bruce Dinkins, Pat George, Garry Hammond, Harvey

Katherine Lehman

Thurmer and Paul York—to an Artistic Advisory Committee. Sally McCrady Hubbard, a former piano student in the festival and a valued supporter of it, will assist in the SSMF office.

Sewanee audiences know Lehman as a performer in numerous concerts and recitals during academic terms and summer seasons. Last October she brought three SSMF colleagues to Sewanee for a week-long string quartet residency, funded in part by the University Lectures Committee.

Outside Sewanee, Lehman performs and records with Orchestra Nashville and collaborates regularly

SES Fall Festival, Reverse Parade

The PTO of Sewanee Elementary School announces its third annual Fall Festival, to be held on Thursday, Oct. 29. Children are encouraged to bring carved pumpkins to school that day for the "Cavalcade of Carved Pumpkins." A pizza dinner with salad and dessert will be served at 5 p.m. in the school cafeteria for $4 each.

The children's parade will begin at 6 p.m. from the school, proceeding up University Avenue and ending at Mitchell Avenue. Children in the "reverse parade" receive candy from bystanders.

The Sewanee police will block off this portion of University Avenue for the parade, and members of the volunteer fire department will keep a watchful eye on the children. Parents are reminded to accompany small children and to make drop-off and pickup arrangements.

Conradance Friday Night

The October Conradance will be held Friday, Oct. 23, in the Women's Center on Mississippi Avenue. The dance is sponsored by the Misty Mountain Dancers and the student Cumberland Contra Clan. Instruction for newcomers begins at 7:30 p.m. and dancing at 8 p.m. Music will be provided by Glory in the Meeting House, Robin Gottfried and Gary Scheufler. Vickie Herndon will be the caller. Admission is $5 for members, $7 for nonmembers and $3 for students. Members may bring a guest for free to this dance! Refreshments are free. All are welcome. Come join in the fun!

Garden Club Monday

The Sewanee Garden Club meeting will be held on Monday, Oct. 26, at Wanda Webb's house, 146 Dogwood Trail, South Pittsburg, at 1:30 p.m. Meet at 1 p.m. in the parking lot of the former Sewanee Pharmacy for carpooling.

South Pittsburg resident Lou Fuller will present the program, "Welcoming Fall with Gifts of Nature from Your Garden," demonstrating interior and exterior home decor with natural materials. Members will also exchange seeds and bulbs collected from their gardens. For more information call Jane Flynn at 598-5789.

Council Agenda Set, Meeting Monday

The following items are on the agenda for the Sewanee Community Council meeting scheduled for Monday, Oct. 26, at 7 p.m. in the Senior Citizens' Center: 1) Approval of the September minutes; 2) Deer cull update, submitted by Marvin Pate, University director of Physical Plant Services; 3) Golf course update, submitted by Jerry Forster, University treasurer; 4) Announcements. The council meetings are open to the public.

DuBose Lectures and SofT Alumni/ae Homecoming Oct. 29-30

The Rev. Michael Battle will explore "Ubuntu" in three addresses for the School of Theology's 2009 DuBose Lectures on Oct. 29 and 30 in Quarry Auditorium. Ubuntu, the African spiritual principle of self-identity formed through community, meaning "I in you and you in me," was the theme of the 2009 General Convention of the Episcopal Church. The DuBose Lectures and the School of Theology's 2009 Alumni and Alumnae Gathering offer alumni/ae and friends the opportunity to return to Sewanee to hear prominent speakers and share social time with classmates. The lectures are open to the public.

Battle is provost and canon theologian of the Cathedral Center of St. Paul in the Episcopal Diocese of Los Angeles and serves as rector of Our Saviour Parish in San Gabriel, Calif.

The first two lectures will be given on Thursday, Oct. 29; at 1:30 p.m., "A Fish Doesn't Know It's Wet" reflects on Western culture, and at 3:30 p.m., "Learning from the African Worldview" examines Ubuntu. The third lecture, on Friday, Oct. 30, at 9 a.m., "The Western World's Contribution" further examines Ubuntu.

Battle's worldwide ministry focuses on Christian nonviolence, human spirituality and African church studies. He has written nine books and co-authored more than a dozen others. Written out of his studies and friendship with Archbishop Desmond Tutu, these books include "Reconciliation: The Ubuntu Theology of Desmond Tutu," "The Wisdom of Desmond Tutu" and "Blessed are the Peacemakers: A Christian Spirituality of Nonviolence." Battle's latest book is "The Black Church in America: African American Spirituality."

Playwright-in-Residence to Present EQB Lead, "The Ethical Audience"

Thomas C. Lakeman, Tennessee Williams Playwright-in-Residence, will present the lead at the EQB Club on Tuesday, Oct. 27, at 3:30 p.m. in the Hearth Room of the Sewanee Inn. Refreshments will follow.

A graduate of Sewanee and Carnegie Mellon University, Lakeman's talk, "The Ethical Audience," will use examples from fiction, theater and film to investigate the peculiar rules that govern an audience's moral judgments.

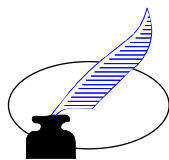

The Ecce Quam Bonum Club is made up of faculty, staff and residents of Sewanee. For more information call EQB President Pat Kelley, 598-0915.

BEQUEST DOES NOT DIMINISH NEED FOR CONTRIBUTIONS

To the Editor:

Among other bequests, the Rev. John "Jack" Gessell's will established a trust for the benefit of the Cumberland Center for Justice and Peace (CCJP). The founder and first executive director of CCJP, Jack desired that CCJP continue working to benefit the people of the Cumberland Plateau region after his death, and to this end he directed that the co-trustees of his estate afford CCJP a modest annual sum to assist with its operating expenses.

The will has been probated and may be viewed at the Franklin County Courthouse. Questions should be addressed to the co-trustees named in the will.

The only financial support afforded to CCJP will come from income earned by the trust. The co-trustees have indicated that CCJP will receive no proceeds from investment of the trust's assets until July 2010 at the earliest.

CCJP continues to rely on the generous contributions of members and friends to support the programs and projects it sponsors.

The CCJP founded the Sewanee Community Center, initiated the Sewanee Gardeners' Market and the Peace Pole project at Sewanee Elementary School, and established the Dora Turner Scholarship, identifying and hosting area youth who attend Camp Anytown, a weeklong human relations and leadership program in White Bluff, Tenn.

CCJP expresses deepest gratitude to the Rev. Jack Gessell and the community for their ongoing support of its mission.

Trinity Episcopal Church in Winchester is seeking to fill the position of priest-in-charge on a part-time basis.

Trinity, which recently celebrated its 150th anniversary is a family-size, inclusive parish dedicated to sharing the good news of the Gospel through worship and the sacraments, and through outreach in this region.

Applications will be accepted through Nov. 16, 2009, and should be mailed to:

Trinity Episcopal Church
P.O. Box 186

Winchester, TN 37398-0186

Applications can also be sent via e-mail to:
tec213@bellsouth.net.

If you have any questions regarding this position, please contact the church at 931-967-0898.

THANKS TO VOLUNTEERS, DONORS AND SHOPPERS To the Editor:

The Oct. 3 yard sale to benefit the Animal Alliance South Cumberland was a bigger success than our first yard sale last spring. Proceeds from this sale will help provide many more low-cost spaying and neutering operations for our Mountain area pets.

We want to thank everyone who donated items. A special thanks goes to the Monteagle School for allowing us to use their yard. We also want to thank the volunteers for countless hours of sorting, pricing and packing items, and for lending vehicles to transport items. And, we want to thank all who came to the event and spent their hard-earned money for this worthy cause. We hope to have another sale in the spring, as well as other fund-raisers to keep the AASC a thriving organization.

Events such as this one are also an opportunity for AASC volunteers to network with pet owners and to educate the public about the need and importance of spaying and neutering pets, and the importance of adopting abandoned animals rather than buying pets.

As we are approaching another puppy and kitten season, we ask that pet owners contact us and schedule an appointment for their cats and dogs to be neutered. Help us stop the pet overpopulation and subsequent abandonment of dogs and cats on our mountain.

For information about AASC contact us at (931) 592-3723.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR:

Mail letters to the Sewanee Mountain MESSENGER, P.O. Box 296, Sewanee, TN 37375; deliver to 418 St. Mary's Ln., or e-mail <news_messgr@bellsouth.net>. Please include name, address and daytime telephone number. Preference is given to letters under 250 words. Unsigned letters will not be used. Letters are edited for space and clarity.

Serving Where Called

Six years ago this column began to support the large number of reservists and National Guard members called up for active duty to serve in the war in Iraq. As the United States withdraws troops from Iraq, they are being redeployed to Afghanistan. About 130,000 troops will remain in Iraq to support and train their military and assist with counterterrorism. This is a reminder that someone else is standing guard and facing fire for us. Please keep the following individuals, their families and all those who fight for freedom in your prayers:

Nick Barry
James Gregory Cowan
Peter Green
Robert S. Lauderdale
Kenny Leming
Brian Norcross

Evolution Seminar: Parasite Virulence

Continuing its celebration of Darwin and evolution, the University's Biology Department welcomes Jaap de Rood, assistant professor of biology at Emory University, for a seminar on parasite virulence this Friday, Oct. 23, in Woods Laboratories, room 113, 12:05-1 p.m.

De Rood's topic is "Virulence Evolution in Monarch Butterfly Parasites." He earned a doctorate in evolution and ecology from the University of Edinburgh. Funding for his research has been through the European Commission's Marie Curie Outgoing International Fellowship. His lab work is on the ecology and evolution of parasites, using butterflies (Monarchs) and rodent malaria.

Seminars and lectures in the Darwin and Evolution Series are sponsored by the Biology Department and the University Lectures Committee and made possible by a generous contribution from J. Milton Harris and Alice Chenault.

Economist to Open Babson Center Viewpoints Series

A. Gary Shilling, a nationally recognized economic consultant and regular columnist for Forbes magazine, will offer his forecast for the global economy in the next decade on Wednesday, Oct. 28, at 4:30 p.m. in Gailor auditorium. His speech is the inaugural event for the 2009-10 Viewpoints speaker series.

Shilling is known for his books on economic development and investment strategies. He holds a master's degree and a doctorate in economics from Stanford University. Founding president of A. Gary Shilling Co., he has drawn praise for his contrarian economic forecasts. In the late 1990s Shilling predicted the demise of internet stocks that led to a U.S. and global recession. He also accurately forecast the collapse of the housing market before the subprime mortgage crisis became international news.

In May 2009, Shilling received an honorary doctor of canon law degree from Sewanee in recognition of his efforts as an Episcopal layman.

Shilling's lecture is sponsored by the Babson Center for Global Commerce, part of its Viewpoints series of noteworthy individuals speaking on issues critical to global commerce. Leaders from business, policy, media and government share their varied perspectives with students and the community.

The Babson Center for Global Commerce works to enhance internship opportunities and oversees the College's Beecten scholarships to summer bridge programs at some of the country's top business schools.

F.C. School Board Agrees to Nonacademic Activities Scheduled Outside School Hours

The regular monthly meeting of the Franklin County Board of Education was held on Oct. 8. As most agenda items had been discussed during the board's work session on Oct. 1, minimal discussion took place.

At the September board meeting, members reviewed the district's policy on field trips. Director of Schools Rebecca Sharber said she had not approved a field trip to the Winchester Swimplex requested by Cowan Elementary School as a reward for good performance in the accelerated reading program because it was not, as the district's policy stipulates, educationally beneficial and would have been taken on school time. Board members disagreed about whether such "fun" field trips should be used as rewards for academic performance. Sharber stated that she believes field trips taken during school hours must be educational.

At the Oct. 8 meeting, field trips were not on the agenda. After the meeting, the MESSENGER learned that board members had discussed field trip policy during the Oct. 1 work session and had come to a consensus: The field trip policy will stand as written, so that only educationally beneficial trips may take place during school hours. If teachers wish to schedule purely fun field trips for any reason, including as rewards for particular academic achievements, the trips will take place after school hours or on Saturdays.

Chairman Mike Cunningham said that vocational needs at Franklin County High School (FCHS) are being explored. During fall break, a vocational education specialist from Shelbyville will visit the high school to evaluate its facilities.

Director Sharber clarified the matter of FCHS allowing the girls' basketball team to practice during the last block of the school day. No other FCHS athletic team practices during the school day. According to the Tennessee School Board Association (an organization to which school districts may subscribe for up-to-date information on the state's regulations for public education), if a district wishes to revise the policy that says athletic teams may not practice during school hours, the school board must vote on such a revision every year.

Sharber said she had discovered that the exception—allowing the girls' basketball team to practice during fourth block—was last voted on in 2006. Now that 2009–10 classes are underway, it is too late to change students' schedules. This year during fourth block, the girls' basketball team will take physical education (for one-half credit) during the first half of the current semester and will practice as a team during the second half of the first semester (for 0 credit).

In the second semester during fourth block, the team will practice basketball the first half of the semester (for 0 credit) and take PE during the second half of the semester (for one-half credit). Sharber said the plan for the 2010–11 year is that no sports teams will practice during school hours.

Sharber reported that the district has received a $128,000 grant to upgrade energy efficiency, and she is trying to determine how best to use these funds. The simplest possibility may be to redo lighting inside some school buildings.

All board policies can be found online: <<http://www.tsba.net/production/default.asp?iBoard=8>>.

The next board work session will be Thursday, Nov. 5, at 6:30 p.m., and the regular school board meeting will be Thursday, Nov. 12, at 6:30 p.m. Thanksgiving break will be Nov. 25–27.

Senior Center Crafters Making Items for Christmas Bazaar

The Sewanee Senior Citizens' Center, located at 5 Ball Park Rd. behind the Sewanee Market, is gearing up for its Christmas Bazaar fund-raiser, to be held Dec. 7–11.

Beginning Tuesday, Oct. 27, members will meet for six consecutive Tuesdays at 9 a.m. to sew aprons, potholders, placemats, scarves and other items. If you can spare some time and have talent for sewing, knitting, crocheting or making decorations, please join in the fun. Patterns are available for those who prefer to sew at home.

Donations of all kinds of fabrics and sewing and quilting supplies are welcome. Leftover fabric of any quantity can be used. Free coffee and tea will be available.

This annual fund-raiser is an important event, as it helps keep the senior center operating and gives many people of all ages the chance to have a warm meal every weekday with friends and neighbors. Please help if you can. For more information call the center at 598-0771.

Sewanee Students Raise Funds for Flood Victims

On Oct. 3, the Sewanee community came together in solidarity at a dinner in Bishop's Common to benefit flood victims in Cape Verde. Thanks to the generosity of more than 100 students, faculty, staff and other members of the Sewanee community, more than $1,000 was raised.

Cape Verde, comprising 10 islands and eight islets, is located west of Senegal, West Africa, and is one of the better functioning democracies in Africa. Unfortunately, Cape Verde's infrastructure is not equipped to deal with long periods of rainfall. In September the islands experienced a two-week period of nonstop rain, causing flooding and landslides and resulting in a significant loss of lives, homes, small businesses and roads. The funds raised in Sewanee have been designated for São Nicolau Island, as it experienced the greatest devastation.

For the fund-raiser, delicious Cape Verdean, Nigerian, Eritrean, South African, Tunisian and Caribbean dishes were prepared by Sewanee students, faculty and staff. Guests learned more about Cape Verdean culture through music and a documentary screening.

"I teach a course at the University on the politics of race and ethnicity in Cape Verde," commented Terza S. Lima-Neves, visiting professor of political science. "We focus on Cape Verde society and its diasporic communities, such as those in Portugal, Holland and Italy. At the beginning of the semester, I discussed with my students the possibility of fund raising activities for an education project in Cape Verde. However, with the unexpected occurrence of heavy rains on the islands, we changed our focus."

The class decided to raise money to send to flood victims.

"The consensus among my students was that it was not enough to sit in class and discuss Cape Verde while the country was devastated," Lima-Neves continued. "The students decided to mobilize on behalf of the people affected by the flood. After a few days of planning with the African and Caribbean Student Organization, the idea for a fund raising cultural dinner emerged. My class students advertised the event, and organization members generously took care of the cooking and other items needed for the dinner."

According to Lima-Neves, the new organization encourages anyone interested in African and Caribbean culture and issues to become involved. The flooding in Cape Verde is part of the bigger issue of climate change and its effects on the world and all people.

"As world citizens with a commonality that extends beyond our local and immediate interests, we must understand our responsibility toward each other and do what we can to preserve our environment," states Guy W. Tunncliffe III (C'10), a student in one of Professor Lima-Neves' class. "Sewanee students and this community came forward and took a stand on behalf of Cape Verde to raise awareness about the effects of climate change."

As stated in the students' advertising for the fund-raiser, "From Atlanta to Cape Verde, climate change affects us all. What will you do to help?"

Breakfield Road Safety Tops Issues at Town Meeting

Breakfield Road is "an accident waiting to happen" stated Joan Williamson, a resident of Wiggins Creek, who raised the first topic of discussion at the Oct. 12 town meeting with the University's Board of Trustees' Community Relations Committee (CRC), chaired by Alec Moseley, a trustee from the Diocese of the Central Gulf Coast.

The Breakfield Road is a major thoroughfare to the University's equestrian center, baseball field, football practice field, forestry cabin and Lake Cheston, as well as serving the residents of Wiggins Creek area. With walkers, runners and cyclists sharing the curvy, hilly road, Mrs. Williamson's concern for safety were echoed by a number of people attending the meeting. The good efforts to slow traffic on Breakfield Road by the Sewanee Police were acknowledged.

"Don't wait for an accident to happen before something is done," commented one resident. Doug Cameron responded that there had already been a death in the 1970s.

In response, Jerry Forster, University treasurer, said that Community Council had looked at a walk/trail on Breakfield Road, and added several other roads needing footpaths (Ball Park Road, North Carolina Avenue, Greens View and Tennessee Avenue to the cross). "It's a question of priorities," Forster said. According to Forster, the Community Council had rejected adding an infrastructure fee to the lease fee to cover these needs.

"This is a University issue, don't confuse the matter," Sam Williamson, former vice-chancellor, asserted.

A College senior stated that putting in a sidewalk would fit with the University's sustainability goals, providing a safe place to walk and bike rather than driving.

Chairman Moseley said the committee would meet the next morning to reflect on the issue and discuss action.

Lee Stapleton of Folks at Home brought the committee up to date on the membership based nonprofit organization created to keep seniors in their homes. A pilot project is underway with Kathleen O'Donohue serving as director.

Stephen Burnett, president of Sewanee Leaseholders, reported 120 members, three committees looking at housing, lease issues and municipal services, and an office in the Community Center. A day of service to help people winterize their homes is planned.

University administrator Marvin Pate reported on the Domain deer culls that have averaged 85 deer per year. The administration is continuing to adjust the hunt zones based on community feedback.

Sewanee resident Joe Porter, a retired priest, said that the University does not pay living wages to its employees, based on his interviews with a number of hourly wage workers. He reminded the committee that at General Convention delegates passed a resolution for economic justice. He encouraged the committee to keep this issue before the board.

This is the first of two meetings held in the year.

St. Mary's Sewanee Announces "Lunch and Learn" Program

Since coming to St. Mary's Sewanee this year, Thomas Morris has been looking for more opportunities to open the facility to the community. Under his leadership as director, he announces a new and exciting program, the opportunity to "Lunch and Learn" at St. Mary's Sewanee.

The offerings will begin in November under a broader concept, The Academy for Lifelong Learning at St. Mary's Sewanee, based on the premise that learning should never cease; that keeping the mind intellectually, creatively, culturally and spiritually active fundamentally enriches and invigorates our lives. The purpose of "The Academy" is to inspire, energize and enlighten; to stretch our limits and discover the adventure of lifelong learning.

"It's consistent with our current mission, and is certainly consistent with the historical mission of this place—to educate and provide a place for individual growth and a sense of community," says Morris.

The "Lunch and Learn" program will begin Wednesday, Nov. 4, at noon at St. Mary's Sewanee. At each program the attendee may purchase a $10 lunch prepared by St. Mary's or bring their own lunch. During lunch there will be a program introduction, followed by the day's speaker and an opportunity for Q&A. The program will end no later than 1:30 p.m.

"We have some very interesting and exciting programs lined up through February 2010, say Anne Davis and Elaine Goleski, program coordinators, "and we are working with, and looking for, interesting speakers for future programs."

The first four speakers are: Wednesday, Nov. 4, Robert Covington, Vanderbilt University emeritus professor of law, "The Golden Age of British Detective Fiction"; Thursday, Dec. 3, Martha Keeble of Sewanee, "Light Therapy"; Tuesday, Jan. 12, 2010, Willie Cocke, retired professor of English from the University of the South, on "Shakespeare's Sonnets"; and Thursday, Feb. 4, John Willis, University professor of history, "Facts are Stubborn Things: Confessions of a Practicing Historian."

The Academy for Lifelong Learning at St. Mary's Sewanee is looking to create an active member list as it evolves and creates program opportunities. The annual membership dues are $10 a year and will help with the support and development of the lifelong learning concept.

For more information about the Academy or the "Lunch and Learn" programs contact Anne Davis at (931) 924-4465 or Elaine Goleski at (931) 924-3227. Reservations are not necessary for program attendance; however, if you wish to order lunch for the Nov. 4 "Lunch & Learn" program, contact Vanessa at St. Mary's Sewanee, 598-5342, by Oct. 30.

Sewanee Athletics Hall of Fame Induction Friday

New members of the University's Athletics Hall of Fame will be inducted at a dinner celebration on Friday, Oct. 23, at 6 p.m. in Cravens Hall. The inductees will also be recognized during halftime at the football game on Saturday, Oct. 24; Sewanee plays Birmingham-Southern, starting at 1:30 p.m.

Inductees include John Colmore, C'69; Sally Harris, C'92; Jon Morris, C'99; Bob Potts, C'59; Tom Ward, C'67; Walter Bryant, C'49; and the 1957-58 swim team.

Reservations for the dinner ($45) may be made online at <<https://sewaneonline.hosting-advantage.com/halloffame.html>>.

Banjo and Humor by Leroy Troy

Leroy Troy will give an old-fashioned banjo performance tonight, Oct. 22, at 7:30 p.m., in the Arts Center of Cannon County.

Troy is known for his old-fashioned vocals, banjo-picking, down-home humor and instrumental acrobatics. The Tennessee Mafia Jug Band will also play. Tickets cost $15 for adults and $12 for seniors and students.

The Arts Center is located on 1424 John Bragg Hwy., west of Woodbury. For reservations or more information go to www.artscenterofcc.com, or call (800) 235-9073.

In-Town Gallery Features a Holiday BazART

In-Town Gallery is bringing a fun shopping experience, "Holiday BazART!" to Chattanooga's North Shore District. The array of all new work by some of the region's finest artists will kick off on the first Friday, Nov. 6, from 5 to 8 p.m. (EDT) and introduces the woodwork of Lowell Axley and Doug Barker and the contemporary realism of Lori Ryan's paintings. The Holiday BazART and feature of new members will continue through November.

Founded in 1974, the gallery is considered one of the oldest cooperative art galleries in the nation. Located at 26A Frazier Ave., between the Market Street and Walnut Street bridges adjacent to Coolidge Park, it is open 11 a.m. to 6 p.m., Monday-Saturday; 1 to 5 p.m. on Sunday; and until 8 p.m. on most first Fridays. Call (423) 267-9214 for information, or visit www.intowngallery.com.

Tennessee's History Festival This Weekend

Tennessee's History Festival will be held Friday and Saturday, Oct. 23-24, at Bicentennial Capitol Mall State Park in Nashville. The festival is free and open to the public. Activities will be offered on both days, 10 a.m.-5 p.m.

The Civil War, including Union and Confederate camps, cannon firing and mock battles, will be re-enacted. Actors portraying Woodland Indians, Hernando de Soto, Sgt. Alvin C. York and other historical figures will interact with park visitors. An entire colonial camp with Native Americans, long hunters and period demonstrations from the late 18th century has been set up.

The original cast and crew will perform the state's official outdoor drama "Liberty!" at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. on both days in the park's amphitheater. The play's compelling stories tell how Tennesseans shaped the outcome of the Revolutionary War.

Bicentennial Capitol Mall State Park is located at the foot of the State Capitol. The park is bordered by James Robertson Parkway, Jefferson Street and Sixth and Seventh Avenues. For more information visit www.tnstateparks.com/Bicentennial, or call the park office at (615) 741-5280.

Spooky Fun at Haunted Woods

Sewanee resident Donald Whalen and some energetic young friends of his have created "The Asylum," a haunted woods with Freddy Krueger, Leatherface, Michael Myers and other movie characters, in an outdoor walk-through at 156 S. Gudger Rd., Sewanee.

Whalen's idea came from talking with some teenagers in McMinnville who were unhappy because they had nothing to do. With material assistance from Builders Supply in Monteagle and Saussy Construction Company of Sewanee, Whalen and friends created "The Asylum."

Open from dusk until 11 p.m. on Friday and Saturday nights, Oct. 23, 24, 30 and 31, the Haunted Woods offers scary thrills for adults and children. Admission (adults, $8, and children, $5) compensates the young people for their makeup and costuming.

Parents should be cognizant of their children's level of acceptance of weird and frightening situations and plan accordingly. Boo, y'all!

Halloween Fun!

The Franklin County Library, 105 South Porter St., Winchester, offers two free Halloween events for children and their families. "Trick or Treat Theater," sponsored by Millennium Teen and Wee Actors' Guild, will be performed on Saturday, Oct. 24, at 2 p.m. Come in costume to celebrate "Family Fun Night" on Thursday, Oct. 29, at 6 p.m. "The Halloween Tree" movie will be shown, and children may participate in a costume contest.

Halloween Event to Help Animals

Spooky Woods, a "family friendly, no chainsaws or touching" Halloween site at the old Highlander Folk School in Monteagle, offers thrills for young and old. Look for the signs off Hwy. 41 across from Summerfield Cemetery.

The $3 per person admission fee will go to the Animal Alliance-South Cumberland's low-cost spay/neuter program.

Spooky Woods is open Friday and Saturday nights, Oct. 23, 24, 30 and 31, from dark until 10 p.m. (Canceled if raining.)

To donate bales of hay, cornstalks, pumpkins or Halloween decorations, please call Robbie Bogart at (352) 430-4314.

Harvest Festival for Oak Grove Youth Saturday

A Harvest Festival will be held this Saturday, Oct. 24, starting at 5 p.m., at the Oak Grove School, Old Alto Road. Come early for an auction.

Bring family and friends for an evening of delicious food, face painting, fish pond, cake walk and games. Enjoy stew, chili, sandwiches, hot dogs, desserts and beverage—all you can eat for $6 each. Proceeds from the event will go toward the White Oak Grove Church of God youth group's trip to UT Knoxville for a statewide youth revival in March.

Pastor Jonathan McGuire invites everyone to come have fun and support the youth group. For more information call 967-6534 or 308-6418.

Performing Arts Series: Los Angeles Guitar Quartet

The next event in Sewanee's Performing Arts Series will be a performance by the Los Angeles Guitar Quartet, Friday, Nov. 6, at 7:30 p.m. in Guerry Auditorium.

For nearly three decades, the Grammy award-winning Los Angeles Guitar Quartet (LAGQ) has forged an unmatched reputation for making brilliant, compelling music with little more than four acoustic guitars, an extraordinary musical vocabulary and a boundless spirit of musical innovation and cross-cultural adventure.

The quartet's music reflects rich stylistic and cultural perspectives, from the guitar's Latin heritage to jazz, Celtic, funk and Indonesian influences. With more than a dozen recordings over the past two decades, these four musicians have established themselves as masters of the classics, as well as creators of unique blends of world music and contemporary styles.

"The LAGQ have done perhaps more than any other group of guitarists to bring so many different styles and influences into such a unified whole," says Tim Panting of Classical Guitar Magazine.

Tickets are $25 for adults, $20 for seniors and $10 for students. Sewanee faculty, staff and students are admitted free with an ID. All seats are general admission.

Tickets may be purchased online: <<http://sewaneeonline.hosting-advantage.com/performingarts.html>>; by e-mail: <performingarts@sewanee.edu>; or by phone: 598-1770.

Painting Autumn's Colors from Sewanee Overlooks

Impressionist painter Lee Boynton will lead a three-day workshop in plein air painting on the University campus, Friday-Sunday, Oct. 30-Nov. 1, 9 a.m.-4 p.m. daily. Students will learn how to paint dynamic, light-filled landscapes in oil from several overlooks with spectacular views of fall foliage.

The workshop focuses on training participants to use the Impressionist palette of colors to capture golden autumn light. "This is a language of colors," Boynton says, "and as students gain fluency with it, they are better able to express the subtle variations in light and mood in the natural world."

Boynton has taught workshops in oil and watercolor for more than 30 years. He is co-author of "Painting the Impressionist Watercolor," a book that presents his step-by-step approach to applying the Impressionist theories of color and light to watercolor. Boynton says that the same theories apply to painting in oil.

The workshop costs $275. A registration form and materials list for the workshop are available on Boynton's website: www.leeboynton.com. For more information contact Bob Askew, 598-5311.

Boynton is giving a free demonstration of his use of the Impressionist palette of colors at Art Creations, 201 Frazier Ave., Chattanooga, on Thursday, Oct. 29, at 3 p.m. (EST). For more information call (423) 266-3626.

"Dancing in the Streets" by Ballet Tennessee

Sewanee has long been fortunate to have local dance options. Phoebe Pearigen's Sewanee Dance Conservatory and the University's Perpetual Motion train dancers and stage performances for the College and community.

Several Sewanee Conservatory students, including Greg Maynard, Charlotte Stephens and Nadia Peters, have also trained with Ballet Tennessee. Its annual fund raising gala will be held on Friday, Nov. 13, 6:30-11:30 p.m. (EST), in the Silver Ballroom of the Sheraton Read House Hotel in downtown Chattanooga.

This year's program is "Dancing in the Streets." Martha Reeves, Motown soul diva, will be the guest of honor. Dress is semiformal or "Motown Glamour." Tickets are $75 and include a gourmet seated dinner. The evening begins with a silent auction and cash bar. To order tickets call (423) 821-2055.

On Saturday, Nov. 14, at 8 p.m. (EST), in Memorial Auditorium, Chattanooga, the "Motown 50th Anniversary Celebration" features Martha Reeves and the Vandellas. To order tickets for this show, go to www.jojoproducts.net.

Mountain Music Concert Nov. 5

The third annual Mountain Music Concert will take place on Thursday, Nov. 5, at the Alma Mater Theatre near Tracy City.

Headlining the event will be Trapper Haskins & The Bitter Swill. Haskins is a Memphis native with a great voice, bringing authentic high-energy stylings of his original songs to the stage. Other acts include Sewanee favorite Sarah Mallory, Grundy County musicians Jennifer Parmley, Jon Parmley and Jason Wilson, with acts still being added.

Alma Mater Theatre is on Highway 41 on the way in to Tracy City. Admission is $10, adults. Tickets will go on sale at 6 p.m. on Nov. 5, and the concert begins at 7.

Music in Belvidere

On Saturdays, the Belvidere Market's doors open at 6:30 p.m., and music starts at 7 p.m. Food and drinks are available. On Oct. 24, Jeffrey Scott Stewart of Nashville will play Americana sounds—country, pop and rock. On Saturday, Oct. 31, the Halloween Costume Bash with country music by Karen and Don McNatt of Nashville will be held. For more information call 967-1727 or see <www.belvidere-market.com>.

classes, open to ages 14 and up, begin Nov. 7 with instructors Sharon Little and Casey Jackson. Beginner Line Dancing meets at 5 p.m. Intermediate/advanced Line Dancing for those who know the basics meets at 6 p.m. The classes cost $20 for four sessions. For information call 308-7919 or 580-1049.

Beginner and Intermediate Clogging Classes, led by Virginia Sawyer and Ashlie Wells, begin Nov. 2. These are ongoing classes with new students joining monthly. The cost is $20 for four weeks, paid with registration. For information call Ashlie Wells at 691-0083.

Feeding Our Rural Communities: What Is FORC?

Feeding Our Rural Communities (FORC) is less than one year old, but it has succeeded in increasing the quantity and quality of food available to families struggling to survive in difficult economic times. Serving organizations and clients in Franklin, Grundy and Marion counties, FORC does not distribute food directly. Instead, its members work to increase the volume of available food and the efficiency of its distribution.

Members solicit contributions of food from local businesses and coordinate resources among area distribution centers. In addition to the directors of distribution centers, FORC welcomes all volunteers who have an interest in its mission.

Participating kitchens and vendors that donate food or resources include Bread Peddler, Monteagle; Blue Chair, Sewanee; Crust, Sewanee; Cumberland Farmers' Market, Sewanee; Eregion Farm, Monteagle; Dutch Maid Bakery, Tracy City; Jayne Slagle Catering, Sewanee; Lorena's Gifts, Monteagle; Mi Casa Restaurant, Monteagle; Mountain Breeze Cafe, Monteagle; Mountain Outfitters, Monteagle; San Miguel Coffee Shop, Winchester; Shenanigans Restaurant, Sewanee; Smoke House Restaurant, Monteagle; Smoke'n B's BBQ, Monteagle; St. Andrew's-Sewanee School, Sewanee; Sharp Shoppers, Cowan; and Walmart, Kimball.

Participating distributors are the Campora Center, Winchester; Community Action Committee, Sewanee; Grundy County Food Bank, Tracy City; Mountain T.O.P., Tracy City; Sewanee Senior Citizens' Center, Sewanee; St. Theresa Outreach Ministries, Winchester; and Mountain of Praise, Monteagle.

FORC also welcomes produce donated by local gardeners. Fresh produce may be dropped off at Mountain Outfitters in Monteagle, which has a large walk-in cooler; the Cumberland Farmers' Market, Sewanee Community Center, 4-6 p.m. on Tuesdays; and the Sewanee Community Action Committee, Otey Parish hall, 9:30-11:30 a.m. on Fridays.

Those who would like to learn more about FORC's mission and activities are urged to visit its website: forctn.blogspot.com. The links under "Blog Archives" present pictures and stories illustrating specific activities of FORC and its participating distributors. Gardeners may be interested in the April 2 entry of the Blog Archives: "Plant a Row for the Hungry." To understand the extent of human need in our area, view the link to Stephen Alvarez's picture story of August's Mobile Food Pantry.

In addition to regular contributions of time and food, FORC needs help to purchase a refrigerated van. Everyone can help by patronizing the businesses that make this mission so successful—look for the FORC logo at area businesses.

Individuals and businesses interested in assisting FORC with its mission are welcome at the next meeting on Sunday, Nov. 1, at 3 p.m. at STORM (St. Theresa Outreach Ministry, 900 S. Shephard St., Winchester). A carpool to the meeting will leave from Shenanigans at 2:30 p.m. Specific questions may be addressed to forctn@gmail.com.

Church News

Cumberland Presbyterian to Honor Pastor

On Sunday, Oct. 25, the Sewanee Cumberland Presbyterian Church will have a special service to honor its minister and his wife, the Rev. Harry and Delores Green, on Pastor Appreciation Sunday. The Blessed will provide music during the service. A brunch will follow in the Fellowship Hall. Green has been the minister of the Sewanee church for the past 20 years. All are welcome to join the church in showing its appreciation to Pastor Green and his wife. The church is located on Cumberland Circle, just off Bob Stewman Road, in Sewanee.

Gospel Meeting at Midway Church of Christ

A Gospel Meeting will be held Sunday through Tuesday, Nov. 1-3, at Midway Church of Christ with preaching by Keith Hamilton. On Sunday, at 11 a.m., the topic is "God's Message for This Messed-Up Age" and at 6 p.m., "What About Abortion?" On Monday, at 7 p.m., the sermon will be "What About Homosexuality?" and on Tuesday, at 7 p.m., "What About Capital Punishment?"

Midway Church of Christ is located at 151 Otter Falls Rd.

Seeking Our Hidden Wholeness

St. Mary's Sewanee Center for Spiritual Development is offering a retreat, "Seeking Our Hidden Wholeness in Christ," from Friday, Oct. 30, at 6 p.m. until Sunday, Nov. 1, at 11 a.m.

The Rev. Marjorie Thompson will lead the retreat. Author of "Soul Feast: An Invitation to the Christian Spiritual Life" and "Family the Forming Center: A Vision of the Role of Family in Spiritual Formation," she is the chief architect of the Companions in Christ study series for small groups.

The residential cost is $225; commuter cost, $115; and deposit, $50. Registration forms and additional details on this and other retreats are available at www.stmaryssewanee.org.

GiG: Mason on the Backpack Project

Linda Mason, organizer of the Backpack Project, will be the speaker at Growing in Grace this Sunday, Oct. 25, at 6:30 p.m. in All Saints' Chapel.

Community members recently learned that some elementary school children were not getting enough food on the weekends. Mason and others have been working anonymously to provide food for these children for weekend meals.

She will speak on this powerful ministry and this semester's theme, "Go in Peace to Love and Serve Our Lord." At this informal service, acoustic guitarists and singers provide the musical accompaniment. Everyone is welcome to attend. For more information contact Lay Chaplain Seth Olson at 598-1251.

Catechumenate

Catechumenate will meet on Wednesday, Oct. 28, 7-8:40 p.m., in Bairnwick Women's Center on Mississippi Avenue behind Bishop's Common. Students, seminarians, faculty and community members come together weekly to share their lives. Everyone is welcome to attend.

The evening begins with coffee, tea and desserts from Stirling's. University Chaplain Tom Macfie will speak on "The Church in the World: The Israel of God." In small groups participants discuss the presentation and what is going on in their lives. The evening closes with prayer.

For more information contact Lay Chaplain Seth Olson at 598-1251.

Otey Memorial Parish

All are welcome to join members of Otey Memorial Parish church this week to celebrate the Holy Eucharist Rite II at 8:50 and 11 a.m.

Between services, children, youth and adults are invited to join one of the following Sunday school classes. Children: Godly Play I (ages 3-5), Godly Play II (grades 1-2), or Godly Play III (grades 3-5). Middle and senior high, the "Nooma" series with Andy Olivo (T'11) and Will Cate. Adults: Adult Forum, Professor Robin Gottfried, director of the new Center for Religion and Environment at the University; Lectionary class on Mark 10:46-52; or the Seeker's class, led by Cookie Sampson (T'07) and Stanford Adams (T'11), "The Wolf Shall Dwell with the Lamb," a community-based bible study which looks at how to understand ourselves, embrace others' diversity and build a peaceable kingdom.

Nursery care is available from 8:30 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. Coffee hour follows the second service. Questions: Robin Reed-Spaulling (598-5926).

Portuguese Added to SES Peace Pole

Sewanee Elementary School had its annual Peace Pole Ceremony on Oct. 16. Since 2002 the school, with the support of many community members, has scheduled the celebration near World Peace Day or United Nations Day.

Each year one or more plaques in different languages, saying "May Peace Prevail on Earth," are added to the school's tall peace pole. This year's plaque was written in Portuguese, and Eri Neves, an SES student from the Cape Verde Islands, gave the peace message in Portuguese.

As part of the ceremony, Mike Maxon, SES principal, offered his ideas on what peace really means. Bonnie Wilkinson's fourth-grade class drew flags from assigned countries and learned to say peace in each country's language. The fourth-graders were helped by two first-graders, Porter Neubauer and Diana Rung, who read the presentation's introduction and conclusion.

Other classes participated by singing "Everybody Smiles in the Same Language" and the "Peace Round," directed by music teacher Teresa Brown. Librarian Cheryl King planned and emceed the program. The program concluded with a reading of "The Peace Book" by Todd Parr to reinforce the many meanings of peace.

SES Red Ribbon Week Oct. 26–30

The week of Oct. 26–30 is Red Ribbon Week at Sewanee Elementary School in recognition of drug awareness. In classroom guidance lessons all week, students will learn how to be aware of illegal substances. Making drug awareness posters in art classes is an optional activity.

Monday is the day for red ribbons on front doors. On Tuesday bookmarks will be given to each child saying, "Too Smart to Start...I'm Drug Free"; on Wednesday red delicious apples will be served at lunch; on Thursday "Erase Drugs" erasers will be distributed; and on Friday everyone is encouraged to wear something red. For more information contact Bo Jackson, 598-5951, or <jacksonb@k12tn.net>.

Tiger of the Week: Chris Hague

Chris Hague, a junior runner on the Sewanee cross country team from Kensington, Md., has been named Tiger of the Week for his performance Oct. 16-18.

"Chris did a nice job this week pulling away from the competition at the three-mile mark. He has worked really hard this season and should see some great results at the SCAC and regional meets," added Sewanee coach Jeff Heitzenrater.

Other Outstanding Performances

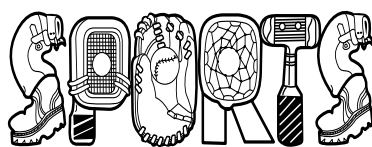

Lizzie Butler, a sophomore soccer player from Carrabelle, Fla., scored a goal in each of Sewanee's matches last weekend.

Maggie Ruch, a sophomore hitter on the volleyball team from Birmingham, Ala., anchored the Sewanee five, as the Tigers played four volleyball matches in Colorado Springs last weekend. Ruch led the team in blocks Saturday and service aces on Sunday.

Chris Hague

SAS' Farrell Picked All Region

St. Andrew's-Sewanee School lost to Webb of Knoxville 3-0 in the quarterfinals of the Division II-A East/Middle Region volleyball tournament on Oct. 15.

SAS finished the season 18-10 and Mollie Farrell was named to the Division II-A East/Middle All Region Team.

Tiger Field Hockey Fall Break Outings

Sewanee played at Roanoke College on Oct. 17 and picked up a 2-0 DIII field hockey win after leading 1-0 at the half.

Elise Landau scored Sewanee's first goal in the 32nd minute of play to get the game-winner from three feet out. Senior Clare Ashburn scored to put Sewanee ahead 2-0 in the second period from outside the circle in the 45th minute of play, giving Sewanee the final two-goal edge.

Sewanee outshot Roanoke 15-9 and had 16 penalty corner opportunities. Emily Detmer earned the shutout in goal and had four saves.

Sewanee played game two of its three-game fall break outing at Eastern Mennonite Monday and fell 4-2 after trailing 2-1 at the half. EMU outshot Sewanee 46-13, but Sewanee held fast in the middle and the on-target shot count was 14-9 shots on goal in favor of EMU.

Sewanee wrapped up its fall break trip to Virginia Tuesday and fell 3-0 in a DIII field hockey matchup at Washington and Lee. The Generals led 2-0 at the half.

W&L scored at the eight- and 20-minute mark in the first period and added some insurance in the second with a goal at 52 minutes.

Emily Detmer played all 70 minutes in goal for Sewanee and recorded six saves.

Sewanee is now 6-7 and 1-4 in the SCAC. The Tigers will play at Hendrix and Rhodes in SCAC play this weekend.

Sewanee's Hague Dominates Cross Country Invitational

Sewanee junior Chris Hague pulled away from the rest of the field to finish first in the men's race at the Tiger Twilight Invitational, held Oct. 16 at the rain-soaked Sewanee Golf Club.

Hague covered the 8K course in 27:10. Other strong Sewanee performances were turned in by Andrew Jolley, posting a time of 28:27, and Clay Bond, who came across the line in 28:42, good for fifth and sixth.

Former Sewanee cross country runner Ian Turner, representing the Sewanee Athletic Club, finished third with a time of 27:50. Birmingham Southern College edged out Sewanee for team honors.

In the women's 6K race, Mitzi Harrington came in third and Sarah Haroldson eighth.

The Tigers return to action on Saturday, Oct. 31, in Conyers, Ga., at the SCAC Championships, hosted by Oglethorpe University.

SAS Football Report

SAS fell to a powerful Franklin Road Academy football team 37-8 on Oct. 16.

Justin Thomas scored for the Mountain Lions on a four-yard run, and Emmanuel Gabaud ran in the two-point conversion.

Rocky Reid, the only SAS senior, was honored after the game, along Gabaud, Wendi Wu, Felix Klingebiel and Max Seidel, all of whom played their final home game.

Sewanee Women's Soccer Team: One Win, One Draw

The Sewanee women's soccer team played at the University of Dallas and topped the host Crusaders 4-1 after leading 3-0 at the half on Oct. 16. At Austin College in Sherman, Texas, the team played to a draw, 1-1, on Oct. 18.

After 24 minutes of scoreless play in the match against Dallas, Allison Davis scored an unassisted goal that would give Sewanee the lead it wouldn't relinquish for the rest of the match. Fritsl Butler and Kabler Colhoun scored Sewanee's other two first-half goals, while Lizzie Butler scored Sewanee's fourth goal in the 52nd minute. Dallas' lone goal was in the 63rd minute, and Melissa Carpenter's goal finalized the 4-1 tally.

Sewanee outshot Dallas 19-9 and had three corner kick opportunities.

Freshman Britt Williams earned the win in goal and had three saves.

At SCAC foe Austin College on Oct. 18, the Sewanee women played to a 1-1 draw after double overtime. The first half was scoreless, and Sewanee's Butler scored on a penalty kick. Austin tied it up in the 71st minute, and the 1-1 score would hold through 110 minutes of play.

Sewanee outshot Austin 21-14 and took five corner kicks compared to seven for the 'Roos. Williams played all 110 minutes in goal for the Tigers and had five saves.

Sewanee is now 7-1-3 and unbeaten at 2-0-2 in the SCAC. The Tigers will play at Hendrix College on Oct. 23 and at Rhodes College on Oct. 25.

Sewanee Men's Soccer Falls in Colorado, Texas

Sewanee fell to 3-1 in the SCAC and 7-5 overall with a 4-1 loss at Colorado College in Colorado Springs on Oct. 16. Sewanee then fell to Austin College, 2-1, in Sherman, Texas, on Oct. 18.

Colorado College was up 2-0 before Stuart Maxey scored on a header for Sewanee off a Jackson Gannaway assist. Colorado scored two more in the second to secure the 4-1 score. Colorado College outshot Sewanee 16-14. Sewanee had a 5-2 advantage on corner kick opportunities. Chris Grover played all 90 minutes in goal for Sewanee and had one save.

Two days later Sewanee played Austin College in SCAC play. Deadlocked at one through regulation and into the 110th minute of play, Austin College scored with 13 minutes left to get the 2-1 win.

Watson Hartsoe scored for Sewanee off a Patrick Johnson assist to even the score at one in the 26th minute. Austin outshot Sewanee 30-12 on the day. Sewanee's Freddie Delchamps played all 109 minutes in goal and logged 10 saves on the day.

Sewanee is now 7-6 and 3-2 in the SCAC. The Tigers will play at Hendrix College on Oct. 23 and at Rhodes College on Oct. 25.

Tiger Volleyball Honors Senior Epps

The Sewanee Tiger volleyball team was defeated by Colorado College and DePauw University on Oct. 17 at the SCAC East-West Crossover held in Colorado Springs, Colo. Sewanee dropped both matches by identical 3-0 scores.

In the Colorado College 3-0 matchup (25-9, 25-12, 25-10), Sewanee match leaders were: Sammie Maddox, four kills; Erin Brahm, 10 assists; Maggie Ruch, one service ace; Maddox, nine digs; Maddox and Kim Conkell, 5 blocks each.

No individual statistics were reported for the DePauw vs. Sewanee 3-0 (25-17, 25-16, 25-15) match.

On Senior Night at Juhan Gymnasium on Tuesday, the Maryville Scots came away with a 3-0 volleyball victory over the Tigers.

Prior to the match, the Tigers honored their lone senior, Mary Beth Epps of Memphis.

Sewanee's match leaders were: Brahm, Ruch and Maddox, two kills each; Brahm, six assists; Brahm and Ruch, two service aces each; Adrienne Borchardt, eight digs; and Epps and Ruch, one block each.

Mary Beth Epps

The Tigers will return to SCAC play this weekend, as they travel to Danville, Ky.

Nature Notes

Flora That Capture Fauna

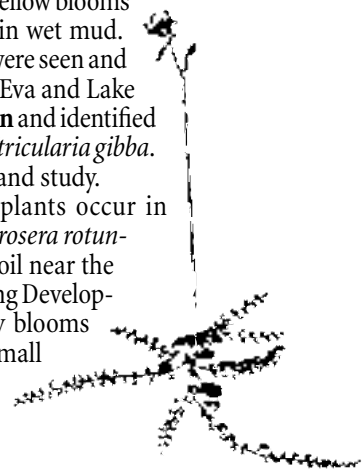

Scattered over the world are flowering plants that catch and digest small prey, Harry Yeatman reports. Nitrogen is the reward for the plant. Venus Flytraps, Pitcher Plants and Trumpet Plants are inhabitants of various parts of the United States. Their traps are modified leaves, and their blooms are yellow, dark red or white.

Tennessee has several kinds of flowers in the "trapping" genus Utricularia, but only one has been reported in Franklin County. This species is found suspended in the water and looks like a mass of filamentous algae except for the numerous tiny bladders produced by its root-like leaves (illustration below). Its yellow blooms (left) appear when the water level is low enough to suspend the Utricularia masses in very muddy soil on the shoreline. An examination of these bladders shows that each one has an opening guarded by a one-way valve to prevent small aquatic crustacea, protozoa, bacteria and detritus particles from escaping. The small, yellow blooms arise from a stalk above the plant in wet mud. This August many of these blooms were seen and photographed at the edges of Lake Eva and Lake Cheston by Jean and Harry Yeatman and identified as the small humped bladderwort, Utricularia gibba. These are excellent plants to enjoy and study.

Other kinds of insectivorous plants occur in Tennessee. Round-leaf Sundews (Drosera rotundifolia) occur in the wet meadow soil near the road through the Arnold Engineering Development Center in Tullahoma. Its tiny blooms are white and appear in May. The small leaves have sticky hairs that catch and hold small insects for digestion and absorption.

Tennessee Trails Hiking Clubs Host Eat-Hike-Eat Event

The Highland Rim chapter of the Tennessee Trails hiking clubs held an Eat-Hike-Eat gathering in the Sewanee area on Oct. 17. The event was coordinated and hosted by Dick and Camille McClure of Sewanee.

More than 35 members and newcomers met at the Templeton Library for a delicious breakfast (the first "Eat"). Participants split into three groups: one for a six-mile hike, one for a two-mile hike and one for a walk around St. Mary's Sewanee. In spite of the rainy cold weather, hikers enjoyed the fall colors and challenging trails. Most hikers returned to Sewanee for lunch (the second "Eat"). All adults who are physically able are welcome to hike with the club. For general information see < www.tennesseetrails.org/ >. For a calendar of events see the Highland Rim blog: < <http://ttahighlandrim.blogspot.com> >. Those who are seriously interested may call 598-0063.

Steffan

F.C. Humane Society Pets of the Week

Meet Steffan & Puff

The Franklin County Humane Society's Animal Harbor offers these delightful pets for adoption.

Big, handsome Steffan is a Rottweiler mix who loves everyone. Happy and playful, he will be a great companion for a family with older children. Steffan is up to date on shots and neutered.

Puff is a gorgeous female Siamese mix cat with beautiful blue eyes. Her lovely coat is so soft it feels like cotton. Puff is negative for FeLV and FIV, house-trained, up to date on shots and spayed.

October is Adopt-A-Dog Month, and Animal Harbor invites you to come and meet potential sidekicks. You will discover the many super-size benefits of having a dog: happiness, companionship, improved physical and emotional health and devoted love. Animal Harbor is filled with amazing dogs: large, small, mixed breeds, even purebreds. They're homeless and just waiting for a hero like you to adopt them. Call Animal Harbor at 962-4472 for information and check out their other pets at www.fchumane.petfinder.com.

Please help The Humane Society continue to save abandoned pets by sending your donations to the Franklin County Humane Society, P. O. Box 187, Winchester, TN 37398. Shop their eBay site at < <http://tinyurl.com/37zwoh> > for fantastic bargains. All proceeds from sales go to support Animal Harbor.

From Bard to Verse

by Scott and Phoebe Bates

I woke up this morning feeling incredibly Gorky. So I made an appointment to see my Doctorow. He said my Hemingways looked a little swollen and sent me to get an M.R. James and a complete Shakespeare. By that time, I began to feel a slight Trilling in my Dickinsons and some minor Kipling in my left Auden. The entire experience was extremely Dickey.

I was referred to an H.D., who asked about my cummings. She detected traces of Plath in my Sextons and suggested I might also have some Updike trapped in my Yeatsian system. She recommended that to keep Orwell and prevent inflammation to my Balzac, I elevate my Flaubert once a day.
